

10th Annual St. Louis Area Philosophy of Science
Association Meeting
SLAPSA X: March 24th, 2018

8:30 to 9:00	Coffee and Pastries
9:00	“Exploratory Invention: The Pre-history of Positron Emission Tomography 1950s-1975,” by Rick Shang, Graduate Student in PNP at Washington University.
10:00	“Formal Practical Knowledge: Science, Engineering, and Mechanism,” by William (Skip) Larkin, Associate Professor Philosophy, Southern Illinois University Edwardsville
11:00	“Galen's Wounds: The Social Function of Wounds and Nosological Taxonomy in Galen,” by Luis Salas, Assistant Professor Classics, Washington University
12:00 to 1:30	Lunch on Your Own
1:30	“Modular Unification: How Computer Simulations Reveal a New Explanatory Virtue,” by Lindsay Brainard, Post-Doctoral Fellow in PNP at Washington University
2:30	“Composition as Trans-Scalar Identity,” by Alexander Schumm, Graduate Student at the University of Missouri, St. Louis
3:30	Coffee and Pastries
3:45	“Actual Difference Making and Causal Selection,” by Ben Henke, Graduate Student at Washington University
5:30	Post-Conference Gathering at Recess Brewing 307 North Main Street Edwardsville, IL 62025

Practical Matters

Location: The conference will be hosted at Southern Illinois University Edwardsville in Peck Hall, room 3117.

Parking: The main road entering campus is South University Drive.
Saturday parking in the SIUE campus lots is free.
The most convenient lot to park is Lot A.

Lunch Recommendations

Oriental Spoon

229 Harvard Drive,
Edwardsville IL 62025

Korean bowls, vegetarian friendly, and the department's go-to lunch spot.

Sergeant Pepper's Café

218 North Main Street
Edwardsville, IL 62025

A Beatles themed diner. They have breakfast all day and good burgers.

222 Artisan Bakery

222 North Main Street
Edwardsville, IL 62025

Offers excellent, fresh sandwiches and pizzas.